

ELCA Domestic Disaster Response at work after extensive U.S. flooding

A series of severe storms caused widespread and destructive flooding in several states, including Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, Texas, Oklahoma, North and South Dakota, Iowa, and Pennsylvania. Whole communities were evacuated. Thousands of people are temporarily displaced. Hundreds had their homes and possessions completely destroyed. The long-term impact on lives and livelihoods is likely to be staggering.

ELCA Domestic Disaster Response is already helping those most affected by the flooding. Through the work of Lutheran Disaster Response and its affiliate agencies, volunteer crews are assisting clean-up efforts and assessing rebuilding needs.

DISASTER RESPONSE

Your gifts to ELCA Domestic Disaster Response help those recovering from disasters through hardship grants, spiritual and emotional care, volunteer coordination, and long-term recovery and rebuilding. Donations designated for “2007 U.S. Summer Flooding” will be used in full—100 percent—to help households and communities recover from the flooding. Learn more, including how to give and how to volunteer, by visiting www.elca.org/disaster

Your generous offerings of prayer, financial gifts, and volunteer time make it possible to faithfully walk with neighbors on the long road to recovery. Through ELCA Disaster Response “we are there,” bringing help and hope.

“God is our refuge in the day of disaster.” (Jeremiah 17:17)
